Tracy Seed

Tracy is a specialist in communication, personal, social and emotional development. She set up her first nursery in 1985 and operated her own small group through the 1980's and 90's until she became a consultant and later the Managing Director of a high quality nursery chain. Since 2006 she has been an independent trainer for Nonviolent communication: a philosophy that underpins all of her work.

Non-violent/Compassionate Communication, provides a way of talking and working with children and parents without the use of guilt, humiliation, shame, blame, coercion, or threats; allowing the development of genuine relationships, resolving conflicts and encouraging positive behaviour

We would also like to invite members to bring along examples of circle time and other activities relating to personal, social, emotional development or Grace & Courtesy, that have been particularly successful in their setting, to share with others.

Refreshments will be provided
